

HELD ON CHARGE OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Tom Dagnison Bound Over to Superior Court After Preliminary Hearing at New London.

Attempts to show that George Brickie was the aggressor were made by attorneys for the defense in the New London police court trial on Friday morning at which Thomas Dagnison, the negro stevedore, was presented on the charge of murdering Brickie in New London last Monday night. Self-defense was the plea by the prisoner.

Dagnison was presented on the charge of murder in the first degree and Judge Colt found probable cause for holding him without bail. Ernest McPherson, an important witness, who was referred to throughout the hearing as Blondy, failed to appear at the police court hearing. The state will try to find him. Alexander Howard was missing when court convened and a patrolman brought him into the court room. The complaint against Dagnison was made on July 2, but it was afterward amended when it was shown Brickie died on July 1, shortly before midnight.

The Wound Described.

Medical Examiner Lee, the first witness, testified that he was called just before midnight on July 1 to Long wharf, where the body of George Brickie was lying on the boards. The medical examiner estimated that Brickie died within three or five minutes.

Cross-examined by Attorney Smith.

Dr. Lee said the wound would have been caused by a three inch blade. The probability was that Brickie, a man 5 feet 2 inches in height, was standing erect on receiving the wound. Brickie was shown by the trial of blood walked out of the door of the strike-breakers sleeping quarters a distance of 10 or 15 feet, according to Lee, and in the doorway a while before he fell.

Prosecuting Attorney Cronin declined to introduce at the instance of the defense two knives that were found in the possession of the accused. The court was asked for an order for the production of the knives.

How the Fight Started.

Alfred Howard of Shinnock, L. I., a negro strikebreaker, followed Medical Examiner Lee on the stand. He came in the backhouse with another negro, whom witnesses knew as Blondy. Dagnison was getting ready to go to work. Brickie wanted to shoot crap. Dagnison declined, but Blondy held the dice and won a quarter from Brickie, whom Howard calls Slim. Slim rushed at Dagnison and punched him with his fists. Blondy held the door so that Dagnison could not get out. Slim knocked Dagnison down with a stick four or five times. Blondy held Dagnison up while Slim hit him with the stick.

Howard did not see the stabbing, but heard Brickie say, "Blondy, I'm scared! Hold Tom!"

Tom went out the window and Blondy went to help Slim. Howard said, "Blondy tried to get Brickie to go home, but Brickie said, 'No, I'm going to get my half dollar back or kill him,' after Dagnison had won the money."

Prosecutor Cronin tried to get Howard to say the men were "fooling," but the witness said he would not call it that.

New London Police Captain.

Police Captain Haven said that Dagnison told him in his hearing that he saw the knife and saw Blondy with it. Captain Haven said that Dagnison identified one of the knives which the police have, as the one with which he stabbed Slim. Dagnison told Captain Haven that he told his captor at Stonington that the knife he used had been thrown away, but that was wrong statement. The police captain testified that the coroner warned Dagnison that any statement he might make might be used against him, and that he refused to make any statement.

Witness for Defense.

William H. Hayward, a negro strikebreaker, longshoreman, was called by the defense. He said he was awakened by a noise and looked out of his bunk. Three negroes were fighting on the floor. Hayward said Slim had a beard and his Dagnison with it. He thought they were fooling, turned the light and went to sleep and did not wake up until he heard someone say he was stabbed.

Hayward said, on cross-examination, that fooling was a common occurrence. He did not make up and did not get out of his bunk until he saw the policeman's brass buttons.

ELKS WANT THE GOAT IN THEIR INITIATIONS.

Judiciary Committee of Grand Lodge Considering Ritual.

Portland, Ore., July 5.—The judiciary committee of the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks made its third attempt, and the ritual committee, its second attempt, to get down to work today. Both adjourned without transacting any business owing to the numerous Fourth of July diversions.

One of the important questions before the ritual committee, it was learned, was the re-establishment of the "roast" as a part of the initiation ceremonies. "Riding the goat," at the behest of the big city lodges, was abolished last year at the grand lodge convention at Atlantic City on the ground of its lack of dignity.

Some of the lodges in small cities and towns demand that it be re-established.

Thomas B. Mills of Superior, Wis., is said to be almost certain of election as grand exalted ruler. There will be numerous contests for other offices.

SPRINGFIELD RECEIVES VISIT FROM FIREBUG

Fourteen Fires in Home City Yesterday, Many Incendiary.

Springfield, Mass., July 5.—Fourteen fires, one of which cost a life and another of which damaged the Sacred Heart Catholic church considerably, occupied the attention of the firemen today. Many of the fires, the police declare, appear to be of incendiary origin and tonight they are searching for a man who recently arrived in town and whose only occupation, according to his own statement, is running to fires.

PROGRESSIVE ELECTORS. Governor Hadley Says They Will Be an Ballot in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 5.—"Whether there will be a third party organized in Missouri," said Governor Hadley on his return to his home today, "I do not know. I know, however, there is no occasion for such organization, as the republican party in Missouri is a thoroughly progressive organization and will place an electoral ticket on the ballot. While I expect to take no part in the preparation of such a ballot, it will be a subject for future consideration by those interested in the success of the republican party in Missouri and the principles for which it stands as to whether the union of the republican state and local candidates cannot be placed upon this ticket, as well as upon the regular republican ticket."

Claude Graham White and his bride, after spending their honeymoon on the continent, cross the English channel by AGE-STATE.
